Rikon, the beautiful Swiss village where we are located

The Kuhn family (Jacques Kuhn, above) has owned and run our company for over 80 years

We are a family-owned Swiss company whose cookware and cooks' tools are sold all over the world. Our products—from our world-class Duromatic® Pressure Cookware to our popular Original Swiss Peeler—have earned the highest praise from cooks, chefs and critics alike for their quality, practicality, beauty and fun.

We're dedicated to better cooking, better health and a better world. Our cookware uses up to 70% less energy. We've cut our Swiss factory's energy use by 50% over the past decade. Half of our stainless steel is made with recycled steel. Improving the environmental sustainability of everything we do is one of our highest priorities.

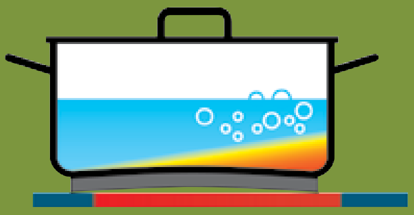
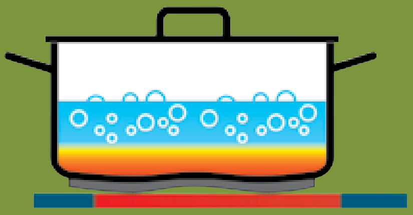
Saving Energy with our Superthermic® Sandwich Base



Heat distribution with conventional cookware



Heat distribution with our Superthermic® Sandwich Base

All of our Swiss-made Cookware comes with an energy-saving Superthermic® Sandwich Base. The base's waved profile ensures an optimal heat distribution and has a high stability. When heated, the material expands so that even the middle of the base lies on the hot plate so that the heat is transferred quickly and evenly to the food being cooked. The magnetic chromium steel ensures induction suitability.
